

Description

Here you will find some of my personal inquiries into various subjects and topics over the years.

Why “Personal Research” and not just “Researcher”? Because, up to now, I have conducted “personal research” but I am not a “researcher”. Much of my research, while stimulating, has not followed any particular direction or rigorous methodology, most of it does not cite sources and is not published outside of this blog, and none of it has been published in peer-reviewed media.

I hope to remedy all the above “faults” eventually and publish my “research”.

I’m not there yet.